

Bureau Hits At Inflation, Strikes In Resolutions Passed At Convention

FOUR thousand farmers and agricultural leaders gathered at the 20th annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in Montgomery, October 27-29, and drew up resolutions which hit at inflation and strikes and sought to further aid the cause of farm people. Those attending the meeting had the opportunity of hearing leaders in the field of agriculture tell of the present crisis and discuss general agricultural problems.

Leading speakers included Senator John H. Bankhead; R. M. Evans, National AAA Administrator; Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; I. W. Duggan, director, Southern division AAA; P. O. Davis, director Alabama Extension Service; Walter L. Randolph, president of Alabama Farm Bureau Federation; and Dr. L. N. Duncan, president of Auburn University. The daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, also spoke.

In the resolutions drawn up at the convention these facts were outstanding:

1. The Alabama Farm Bureau wants no inflation for themselves or for any other group and is opposed to any price control bill which does not apply equally to industry, labor, and agriculture.

2. Full parity is sought for agriculture. If prices of farm products are fixed the Farm Bureau asks that the ceiling be 110 percent of parity, due to the fact that if the ceiling is exactly parity they will not get parity as an average.

3. Industry was asked to completely abandon its traditional policy of scarcity and produce at full capacity in an all-out effort to win war against the forces of aggression. Profiteering by agriculture, labor, industry or any other group was condemned.

4. Trusts were condemned as the Farm Bureau wants no manipulation of economic or social affairs that would be against the public welfare.

5. We ask the President of the United States to use the full powers of his office to prevent unjustifiable strikes. Likewise, while we recognize the right of organized labor to strike, we call upon labor in this time of emergency to declare a moratorium on this right to the extent that labor will do nothing that will retard production for defense and the preservation of democracy. It is obvious that strikes and threat of strikes are curtailing needed production," read the resolution on strikes.

6. The rural youth problem was fully recognized. A resolution passed included: "We further recommend that community Farm Bureaus develop and exchange ideas on youth programs and that the Alabama Farm Bureau News be given these ideas for a column to promote this."

Officers of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation to serve the ensuing year are (left to right) Walter L. Randolph, Fayette and Montgomery Counties, president; J. R. Brunson, Butler County, first vice-president; and W. S. Kirk, Randolph County, second vice-president. Other members of the executive committee include N. L. Hasty, Mobile County; J. Dewey Doughty, Pickens County; C. W. Rittenour, Montgomery County, secretary-treasurer; R. O. Kilburn, Lauderdale County; A. L. Byrd, Lee County; A. I. Stone, Tuscaloosa County; R. L. Long, Perry County; Bud Hood, Calhoun County; and W. C. Goolbsy, Covington County.

"Santa Claus Is Comin'"

"MOM, is there a Santa Claus?" "How does he get down the chimney without getting all black?" "Mother, was that really Santa Claus I saw up town today?" These and many more questions are usually heard daily from now until Christmas is over.

But the real questions for parents are: "What shall we tell them?" "How shall we answer these questions?" "Shall we teach them there is a Santa Claus or shall we abolish the custom from our homes?" (That would not be an easy task.)

Suppose we stop and consider what truth and beauty a child can learn from Santa Claus? That will mean looking a little deeper and trying to find what lies behind the figure of the jolly old fellow called St. Nick.

As is suggested in the Santa Claus legend there is more joy in giving gifts than in receiving them. Love for others, rather than selfish greed, is portrayed. Santa Claus, the spirit of giving, prefers to come at night, leave his gifts and depart unseen. He does not wait for thanks and praise. A spirit of love and wonder with reference to Santa must be felt by the adults around him if the child is to develop it.

To the statement—"I saw Santa Claus up town"—we can answer, "No, no one has ever seen the real Santa Claus. We see a lot of people dressed to look like Santa Claus, but not one of them is the real one."

Gradually, bit by bit, as the opportunity arises, we can tell our children—"All we know is that on Christmas Eve children, the world over, hang up their stockings. While they sleep something very wonderful happens. Early on Christmas morning when they awake the stockings which were empty are full."

"What happens? Christmas Eve is a happy night for all the world because it is the birthday of the baby Jesus. Some people say Santa Claus is one of the Saints and because of the love he has for the Babe born long ago he wants to make all children happy on His birthday."

"We can't be sure what Santa Claus looks like nor how he comes. He may come in the window, down the chimney, through the front door, or maybe he does none of these things."

"One thing we all know is that something very wonderful happens on Christmas Eve in a home where there are small children."

Gradually, by the time the child is old enough to know the whole truth he understands, "Yes, there is a Santa Claus. He is a spirit that lives in the hearts of boys and girls, of mothers and fathers everywhere."

In this way the child does not feel his parents have broken faith with him. He understands the truth and beauty of the real spirit of giving, of the living Santa Claus.

LEWIS BROOKS OPENING
FIRESTONE STORE HERE

The formal opening of Elba's newest business enterprise will take place Friday and Saturday when Lewis D. Brooks opens his "Firestone" Home and Auto Supply Store, located in the Ponder building next door to the bowling alley.

The store will carry at all times a complete line of the famous Firestone products for the home as well as for motorists.

Mr. Brooks in the operation of the business, having recently moved back to Elba from Enterprise. Read the large advertisement on page three of this issue and see the many useful services to be found in the new store.

AMERICAN RED CROSS TO RAISE WAR RELIEF FUND

Chairman Norman H. Davis, of the American Red Cross, in a radio message Monday evening, announced that the organization will immediately start a campaign to demonstrate the efficacy of best management to this war relief chest.

Plans are being made to give Elba citizens the opportunity to contribute to this war relief chest. Further announcement with the names of relief campaign officers will be given next week.

NEW OFFICERS ANNOUNCED
BY METHODIST WOMEN

The "Harvest Day" meeting of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service was held at the church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. J. W. Bell, well and Mrs. Dove Johnson serving as hostesses, and both the Ada Marley and Violet Rainer Circles taking part in the observance.

The church auditorium was attractively decorated with alvared leaves, ball and cones and red berries to suggest the Christmas season. Mrs. J. M. Rowe, president, presided over the program.

The nominating committee announced the following officers for the new year: Mrs. L. P. Morrow, president; Mrs. C. A. Pittman, first vice president; Mrs. May Prescott, second vice president; Mrs. W. R. Crook, recording secretary; Mrs. Dana Perry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. L. Cooper, conference treasurer; Mrs. Corrie Bryant, local treasurer; Mrs. J. M. Rowe, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. C. Dunaway, secretary of Christian social relations; Mrs. Dove Johnson, secretary of literature and publications; Mrs. J. M. Garrett, secretary of supplies; Mrs. W. M. Ringsdorf, secretary of student work; Mrs. L. S. Rainer, secretary of young women's circles; Mrs. Walker Bancroft, secretary of baby societies.

The outgoing president, Mrs. J. M. Rowe, who had served the society for four years, expressed appreciation for the cooperation and loyalty of each member to her and the work.

The subject for the afternoon's program was "Power of Christian Women Around the World," led by Mrs. J. M. Rowe.

The leader gave the meditation talk, "One Great Fellowship of Love," and read scriptures Isaiah 52:7 and Micah 5:2-4 as a basis for talks on "By Their Fruits Ye Shall Know them." The women's work was represented as twelve branches of righteousness and was presented by Mrs. L. S. Rainer, Mrs. L. P. Morrow and Mrs. Roberta Child.

Mrs. Rowe read the impressive poem, "You Pray For Peace," and following the song, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," the meeting was dismissed with the watchword.

The hostesses served a refreshment course of sandwiches, cookies, mints and cold drinks.

Rev. C. P. Roberts, new pastor of Elba Methodist Church, with Mrs. Roberts and her mother, Mrs. Satter, arrived in Elba Tuesday afternoon and are now at home in the parsonage on Rushing street. The Roberts have a son who is attending A. T. L. Auburn. The family is being given a cordial welcome in the city.

Rev. Roberts will enter immediately upon his duties, and the first regular services for the year will be held on next Sunday when he will preach at both morning and evening hours. All members of the church are urged to be present, and others are cordially invited.

Mr. A. C. DuBose, of Panama City, Fla., former resident of Elba, was a visitor here last Saturday. He is connected with the Panama City News-Herald newspaper department.

THE AMERICAN WAY

This is your country and my country. All of us belong to it; all of us own it; all of us help to run it.

You have a home here and I have a home here. We want to keep our homes. We want to keep our living in them—pretty much the same way we always have.

With all our faults, it's a pretty good way of living.

Down in Washington is your government and my government. We invented it; we elected it; it is there trying to serve us; it is up to us to support it.

All these things—our country, our homes, our government, our way of life, which is the free way of life—all these things are in terrible danger today.

If they are not worth working for, then nothing is worth working for. Suppose we do have to work harder than we like to, suppose our muscles do get tired, suppose we get some callouses on our hands, suppose we lose some sleep. Suppose we haven't got time to play—even on Saturday afternoons. Suppose we never get another vacation until this war is over. Suppose we can't get a new car for a few years; or we have to put off building a house; or have to go back to brooms instead of vacuum cleaners.

In other words, suppose we mean what we say and really go to work and make whatever sacrifices we have to make to put this job above everything else. These are the things we have to do if we are not to get this over with as soon as possible. And I think it's worth while. I still think every other American is of the same opinion—William S. Knudsen, Director, Office of Production Management.

The Elba Music Study Club was entertained in the home of Mrs. W. C. Braswell with Mrs. A. C. Dunaway serving as assistant hostess, on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 3 for a short business session and program meeting.

A combination of fall flowers were used in decorations.

Mrs. Terry Kendrick, president, presided and conducted the business. Mrs. J. A. Carnley, Jr., secretary, called the roll and read minutes of last meeting. Reports of standing committees were made and amendments to the Constitution were submitted to be voted on at a later date.

Three new members were added to the club roll: Mrs. Sam Sawyer, Mrs. Lewis Brooks and Mrs. George Collier.

The program for the afternoon study was "Early American Music," and was presented under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Carnley, Jr., as follows:

Talk by Mrs. J. C. Dixon on "American Music of the Early Period," two minutes played by Miss Hattie Mae Bullard; piano selection by Miss Mary Will Kendrick, substituting for Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, talk on "The Life of Frances Hopkinson," by Mrs. L. P. Mullins; piano selection by Composer Hopkinson, played by Miss Julie Bradley; vocal duet by Mrs. W. C. Braswell and Mrs. T. D. Kendrick; group sang "The Star Spangled Banner" as the closing number.

During the social hour the hostess served congealed salad, sandwiches and hot coffee to the following members: Mrs. T. D. Kendrick, Miss Marjorie Brunson, Mrs. J. C. Dixon, Mrs. L. P. Mullins, Mrs. Arden Bradley, Miss Hattie Mae Bullard, Mrs. George Collier, Mrs. J. C. Fleming, Mrs. W. C. McTyeire, Mrs. J. A. Carnley, Mrs. J. A. Carnley, Jr., Mrs. Sam Sawyer, Mrs. Mary McDowell, Newton, Mrs. W. C. Braswell, Mrs. A. C. Dunaway, Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, and two visitors, Misses Julie Bradley and Mary Will Kendrick.

BETA CLUB PLANS SAFETY AND WELFARE WORK

The Beta Club of the Elba High School met Tuesday morning, December 2, for its regular program and business session, with Miss Betty Jean Bullard, president, presiding. Miss Ibel Whitman, secretary, called the roll and read minutes of last meeting.

The several objectives of the Club were reviewed and discussed and a decision made to concentrate efforts on the following two objectives at present: Assisting in welfare work and waging a safety campaign. In this connection, a committee composed of Misses Grace Moore, Ibel Whitman, Elsie Dawkins and Anne Wright was appointed to register children at the crippled children's clinic to be held early in December, and another committee composed of Willard Martin, Miss Julie Bradley, Miss Martha Ann Dixon, Miss Carolyn English, Miss Grace Moore and Miss Elsie Fay Dawkins named to make safety talks during the next two weeks to the Grammar School children.

Lamar Rainer, chairman of the program committee, presented the program which was a duplicate of the Life of Alexander Hamilton.

MACHINERY REPAIRS URGED IN COUNTY-WIDE CAMPAIGN

To All Coffee County Farmers: A few days ago you were notified relative to the importance of repairing all farm machinery and ordering replacement parts now. This machinery repair campaign is another important move for National Defense.

We have several farm shops here in the county in connection with our Department of Vocational Agriculture. The agricultural teachers, who have charge of these shops, are very anxious to assist in this machinery repair campaign and are offering you the privilege of using the facilities in these shops. The shops are well equipped with tools which you will, no doubt, need but do not have at home.

Arrangements have been made for you to take the equipment you are repairing to your nearest shop any afternoon between 1:00 p. m. and 5:00 p. m., beginning Monday, Dec. 8, and through Friday, Dec. 12, and use the tools there in making your own repairs.

Shops in the county, together with the teacher in charge, are as follows:

Kinston High School, Mr. Krutop.
Elba High School, Mr. Geiger.
Coffee County High School, Enterprise, Mr. Dilworth.
New Brockton High School, Mr. Johnson.

Zion Chapel Community Building, Mr. Walsh.
New Hope Community Building, Mr. Morgan.

The agricultural teachers will be glad to assist you in any way possible and are asking that you let them know in advance when you will come to their shop so that they may have everything in readiness for you.

Hugh D. SEXTON, County Agent.

FACULTY CLUB HOSTS AT DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL—

The Faculty Club of the Elba High School entertained at a delightful social on Monday evening, December 1st, in the reception room of the vocational building, which were attractively decorated in Christmas theme with red and silver, the chosen colors.

The wives and husbands of faculty members were guests. The guests were divided into two groups for the games, with book played at five tables and bridge played at four tables. Miniature trees were used as tally cards.

At the conclusion of the progressions, a delicious refreshment course was served. Buffet style from an attractively appointed table.

Those present for this enjoyable meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Geiger, Mr. and Mrs. James Radford, Mr. and Mrs. Eris Paul, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Rainer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deal, Mrs. Sam Bean Young, Mrs. Mayo Prescott, Mrs. Roberta Childs, Mrs. Waverly Ham, Mr. Eugene Brock, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Peery, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sellers, Mrs. J. W. Bedwell, Mrs. Fred Harper, Mrs. Dana Parvise and Mr. and Mrs. Grell Tillman.

MARINE RECRUITER TO BE IN ELBA DEC. 8 THRU 12TH

A representative of the Marine Corps Recruiting Service will visit the Elba Postoffice the week of December 8th through 12th for the purpose of interviewing and examining applicants for the Marine Corps.

All young men between the ages of 17 and 30, of good physical condition and good character, are urged to call by the Postoffice and obtain information regarding enlistments in the Marine Corps, the branch of service doing duty on land, sea or air.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB OF THE ELBA HIGH SCHOOL will present the play, "Cheerio, My Dear," by Jay Tobias, on Friday evening, December 12th, in the school auditorium.

J. C. Sellers, teacher of English, is the club sponsor and is directing the play, which is a delightful three-act farce comedy.

MT. GILEAD SINGING

There will be an afternoon singing Sunday, December 14, at Mt. Gilead (Bradshaw) Church. Everybody is invited. Come and bring your "Joy Divine" and "Pilgrim" song books. The singing begins at 2 o'clock. Nacie Johnson.

BOY SUPPER
There will be a boy supper at the Elba Baptist Church, Thursday night, Dec. 18, at 7:30 for benefit of the church. The public invited.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cottrell (Dimple Harris) and son, George, Newport, R. I., are spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harper and family.

MRS. SEIBERT GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY—

Mrs. John Wiley English and Mrs. J. C. Dixon were hostesses at a lovely roomy party and handkerchief social given in the English home on Wednesday afternoon, honoring Mrs. C. H. Seibert, who was leaving to make her home in Greenwood, Florida. The guests for this delightful evening were members of the Past Time Book Club and several additional friends.

Christmas decorations made the attractive party setting. After a series of rook games were enjoyed, the gifts were presented to the honoree, Mrs. Seibert, and regrets expressed at her leaving. A salad plate in which the colors of the season were emphasized was served with a drink by the hostesses, assisted by Misses Martha Ann Dixon, Carolyn English and Catherine Mullins.

Guests participating in this delightful evening were: Mrs. C. H. Seibert, the honoree, Mrs. John Bonneau, Mrs. Fulton Clark, Mrs. George Collier, Mrs. James English, Mrs. J.
